The Lighted Way

“Toiler, when the energy is transmuted into an ocean of light, does thy consciousness quiver or expand? Toiler, is thy heart fearful or exultant when before thee looms Infinity?” Community Epilog

Men and women like ourselves have been assembling, usually in the evening, during the 12 hours before the full moon for countless centuries. The reason for this has to do with the inter-dimensional wireless communication system involved in Planet Creation. The Intention which generates the energy impulse for the creation and dense manifestation of any planet originates within a dimension a number of times higher than, subjective to, or inner to the eventual dense physical dimensions of the Planet.

It is pretty clear, to all but the unconscious and the walking dead, that the Creation, or The Great Unfolding, is still happening.

According to the Genesis Report, which was the name the Ancient Ones gave to their version of the process followed in the creation of this planet, the Intender or Creator was really busy for six days, and on the seventh, He rested. Well, we’re not sure what kind of time frame constituted a “day” (One day and night of Brahma, for example, is 8,640,000,000 of our years. Treatise On Cosmic Fire footnote p. 40.), or what they actually meant by “resting”. However, it is pretty clear, to all but the unconscious and the walking dead, that the Creation, or The Great Unfolding, is still happening.

Eventually, we, that is infant humanity, or animal man as we were sometimes called, manifested, and along with the other animals we, began to crawl around in the “folds of the crust of the planet.” The time arrived when the Planners with the cooperation and aid, one expects, of the Deva Lords, had carried the Will of the Intender as far as they could. Consciousness had invested the lower dimensions and generated the three lower Kingdoms.

Apparently, somewhere along in the process it became clear that animal man was, for some reason about which we can only speculate, not quite ready for the next Intended stage of evolutionary development. It seems that any further evolution on the planet was going to require some kind of equipment or consciousness upgrade, which we, for presently some unknown reason, were unable to manifest. According to the Lore, Our Intender requested aid from one of the other Intenders in our Solar System.

Eventually, our Intender’s request was filled. And, according to the Ancient Lore, an aid package arrived from Venus in the appearance on Earth of the Divine Agnishvattas. These Fire Beings “implanted” animal man with a significant upgrade. The Lore refers to this upgrade as “the Spark of Mind.”

Just exactly what that means, how it was accomplished, and how it worked is, for now, something of a mystery. However, it has the appearance of having been a major software upgrade. Apparently, infant humanity’s hardware, the etheric body, and the CPU, or brain, had evolved to a point that it could begin to handle a significantly higher voltage or wattage. Thus we were hooked up to or given the ability to access the Universal or Cosmic Mind which, in my limited experience, is a kind of energy or electricity. This resulted in the manifestation of the 4th or Human Kingdom, and made it possible for us, now truly human, to acquire the ability to access and begin to work with the lower planes of the Fifth dimension.

Obviously, in terms of evolution, this was a very big deal. It was at this point that we became able to become participators in the Great Unfolding. We were still basically unconscious of our own essential divinity. However, we were free agents, and it was through us that the Planners had to work.

In order to work through us, we had to be trained. So the eons long process of training infant humanity to control the physical and emotional bodies and finally to make conscious contact with the Mental dimension commenced.

I am not sure where what we call free will came into this equation. My current best thinking is that free will is an intrinsic condition of Cosmic Mind. At any rate, Humanity has a free will. Essentially this means that we can choose to, or to not, go along with the Intender's Will as packaged for us by the Planners in the frequency we call the Divine Plan.

It is obvious from the state of the Planet that many, many humans over many, many eons have chosen to not go along with the Plan. When we choose to not follow the Plan, we introduce viruses, which are thoughtforms of an incoherent frequency, in the system. These self multiplying viruses appear as and generate discord and imbalance. This causes the system, at what ever level we are working, to malfunction in many respects, and results in the generation of chaos.

It is obvious from the state of the Planet that many, many humans over many, many eons have chosen to not go along with the Plan.

On a planetary scale this chaos takes the form of tragedies like famines, tidal waves, earthquakes and of course the huge insanity we call war. Presently, these “microbes”—incoherent, inharmonious, and discordant thoughtforms—infect all of the planning involved in global human relations. This distortion starts with our inter-dimensional communications systems with the Planners, and extends to the environment, government, finance, education, and each other. We know this distortion as The Great Illusion or Lie. In individuals it appears as various sorts of glamour, illusion, ineffective and harmful behavior, unhappiness, despair, and pain.

Compulsion and coercion, of course, are not part of the Plan and are in fact thoughtforms which generate chaos. Humans must have a free will. Humans, who have been compelled or coerced to do this or that, do not indicate any kind of success in creation. What would be the point of manipulating people by making seductive appeals to their lower desires, or forcing people through punishment, and fear to obey? What's creative about that? What expands? What is evolution if there is no consciousness expansion?

When consciousness truly expands or evolution is actually working, it manifests through humans as awareness, knowledge, understanding, and appreciation of the symmetry, harmony and beauty of Cosmos. We willingly, even joyfully choose to participate totally in that Plan. We become co-creators. This is creation.

We all know about experiment, experience and expression, the three conditions of discipleship. We live our lives under this code, and gradually we learn. Having been conditioned by centuries of living under the illusion of the Great Lie into thinking we are separate from others and involved in a struggle for life with others, we have experimented, gone against the Laws of Love, and created this world in which we live. The so called "slings and arrows of outrageous fortune" are of our own making. Our suffering is the result of our own free will to act against, not against some person's rules, but against the Principles of Cosmic Physics.

It is challenging for us, with our puny, usually form focused, finite minds, to grasp the Infinite, to understand the harmony and balance of Cosmos, but we can. We can. We can reach into it. We can be in it in consciousness.

We can experience the Infinite even if we cannot express its beauty and wonder so well in thoughtforms. We lack the language, but in consciousness we can model it. We can become a walking multidimensional thoughtform in the way we live and move on the planet among our sisters and brothers and our relatives in the other three Kingdoms. And we can and many, many have, freely and joyfully chosen to go with the Divine flow of Cosmic Physics and become co-creators.

We can phone home. There won't be any busy signal, and we will not have to leave a voice mail.

So, since we have freely chosen to, we become conscious co-creative partners with the Intender and the Planners. This being the case it is obviously necessary therefore that there be communication between the Intender, the Planners and the Implementers. Or, you could say, Shambala, Hierarchy and Humanity. This communication system is what creative meditation is all about.

Very simply, creative meditation is like phoning home. Like any communications system, it works best when the contact points of the various dimensions are in alignment. We all have experienced the problem of trying to make a cell call when we do not have an adequate alignment. If we are in the woods or in someone's house, we may have to walk around a bit to find a spot where there is an alignment.

There are all kinds of esoteric/scientific data concerning this system, and I will share a few bits about it later. But for now, let's just say that the moon is the cell tower in the sky. When this celestial body approaches what we call full, that is when it is totally bathed in sunlight, which is actually a very high-energy frequency signal, it indicates for humanity that the system is on. Alignment and connection options with very much higher dimensions are optimum. We can phone home. There won't be any busy signal, and we will not have to leave a voice mail.

In the Lore, it is said that "God is Love." What we have come to realize is that, "All is Energy." Is it too hard to figure out that Love and Energy are two metaphors for the same thing? I don't think so.

Understanding that Energy and Love are synonymous lets us realize that another way to see Love or Energy is that it is the frequency wave, driven by the Intender's Will, that carries His Intention. Energy/Love is Purpose. Energy and Love, which is what sunlight is, being synonymous, it is not a big leap to realize that Love drives everything.

Love is the energy that drives our Zodiac around a distant Greater Zodiac

“The chains of love unite the world of men and the world of forms and they constitute the great chain of Hierarchy.”

Love drives the Sun Hearts around some distant center; it drives the Planets around the Suns, and it drives evolution on this planet. Love is the Energy which drives our meditation work, that drives all such work.

“There is no separation but only identification with the heart of all love; the more you love the more love can reach out through you to others. The chains of love unite the world of men and the world of forms and they constitute the great chain of Hierarchy. The spiritual effort you are asked to make is that of developing yourself into a vibrant and powerful centre of that fundamental, universal Love.”
Discipleship In The New Age II, P.30

This energy, Love, is the basic innate quality in the human psyche. We come in, we are born with this program. It manifests deep within the DNA of every human being. Love is the source of that unexplainable sense of community, of wholeness of Brotherhood that we share. It fosters our sense of Kindness. Love lets us see that the other person, regardless of sex or skin color or cultural habits, is a brother, a sister, is our Kind, is One with us.

Through the use of illusion, fear, doubt, and self concern, this natural innate human force, the force that actually makes us human, has over the eons of evolution been set-back, denied, covered over, dumbed down. But it has never been defeated. It has persisted against every obstacle that has been put in its way. It has returned again and again over countless centuries from the blind alleys of separative thinking and selfish systems, and even from the major set-back in Atlantis.

In 1945, humanity succeeded in defeating the Retrogressors in the world wide land war. They were, however, still a viable power on the subtle dimensions. Around 1977, focused mainly on the emotional and mental planes, the Retrogressors unleashed a huge counter offensive.

The Iranian hostage situation, a part of this offensive, played a large role in Jimmy Carter's loss of the 81 election to Ronald Reagan. Reagan's administration initiated what has been an unrelenting three decade assault on civil liberties and social programs that were designed for the common good, and general welfare across the board: education, environment, union busting, and much more.

Currently we are coming back from this blind alley into which we allowed ourselves to be led starting some 30 years ago. And today, we are more powerful than we have ever been. There are millions, perhaps even a billion humans who are group conscious and are becoming more so every day.

As I have said, creative meditation is group work. Think about what that means. It takes individuals to create a group. Individuals of course are persons who have integrated their three bodies into a unity and are more or less in charge of that unit. People, who have not accomplished this part of the construction of the Path, cannot actually participate in the co-creative aspect of group work.

Anyway, let's start with the individual. Some of us are familiar with the term bandwidth, but simply put, in digital networks, bandwidth concerns the width of a frequency band and how much data can move over it. Our individual communications system is like a network. In the dense form, the center system of the etheric body—nadis and nervous system—are similar to a wire network. Beyond that the network is wireless. When we create our individual alignment we generate and project a coherent frequency field that synchronizes with the frequencies of our soul which exists on a higher dimension.

When we are successful in connecting with the Soul, "data" can flow between the soul and our brain. Once a person has connected even the smallest thread of coherent light with his or her soul, the individual is ready to cooperate with a group in its co-creative process.

The Soul is group consciousness. Thus there really is no your soul and my soul, but only the Soul. Once the individual meditator has achieved success in making this connection in the alignment, there is a higher alignment which requires the much higher voltage and greater bandwidth that can only be generated in group formation. One of the most important aspects of group meditation is that the group alone is capable of both generating the connection to these higher frequencies and of safely contacting and embodying them. It is part of the Lore that the Way is protected from the worker by the group and the worker is protected from the power of the Way by the group.

So, bandwidth is very important in group creative meditation for any number of reasons, but I want to point out two that are crucial. They both have to do with alignment.

Any effective group work is highly focused within a ring pass not, and this focus is carefully nurtured and protected.

As we said, there is no my soul and your soul; however, groups of souls do focus on various aspects of the Divine Plan. A group's Purpose and service objective delineates the specific aspects of the part of the Plan upon which any particular group is focused. Just as pointed out in the First Rule of White Magic, the soul or group in meditation deep "scatters not his forces." A Treatise On White Magic P.50 Any effective group work is highly focused within a ring pass not, and this focus is carefully nurtured and protected.

It is this focused alignment that provides the group with the "bandwidth" which is hugely more powerful than the bandwidth of an individual who is not working within a group field. In a group alignment, each meditator is synchronized with the frequency of the group. That means that we leave our personal agendas, frequencies or alignments out of the group bandwidth or frequency field. The presence of non-coherent frequencies in the group bandwidth creates a kind of static which can and does interfere with the group's ability to contact, register and download the Light being transmitted to it from higher dimensions.

Over the years the groups of creative meditators with whom we work have created a frequency path that ultimately leads to dimensions higher than our planet. In the Teachings, this path is called the antahkarana. This path connects the individual meditator through his or her soul, who is group conscious, and then in group formation to the Ashram of which the group is a working member. Through the Ashram, the Path leads to the Christ, and to Shambala. It has the power capacity to lead to the Heart of the Sun, The Central Spiritual Sun and finally to our Cosmic Brother that great Sun we call Sirius.

There are many marvelous things about group meditation work.

Any individual who willingly aligns with the Group's purpose, agenda, goals and objectives and willingly participates in the group meditation work will be coherent within this alignment. It is not a personal alignment. It is a group alignment. One participates as a member of the group and shares to the extent that one can in the group download.

One other very important thing about group meditation should be mentioned.

Meditation outlines are made up of words. However, we need to continually realize that words carry a frequency, and it is the frequency that matters not the words. Because we, most of us, were raised to believe only what we could see or put a coat of paint on; many people are not aware of our innate and very powerful ability to sense rather subtle shifts in the energies of the environments we are in or through which we pass. In a group meditation, if we feel safe, and we can let go of our personal opinions and simply open to and follow the frequency of the alignment, we will experience what the group contacts.

Group Creative Meditation takes one into a frequency that will facilitate the downloading of new possibilities for the continuing evolution, or salvation, if you prefer, of the planet. You can see that we think that this work is priority One. It is this interface with the higher dimensions that energizes, seeds, directs all of our work for the next cycle. To accomplish this task, always has and does now, require a group endeavor.

The alignment is about following and eventually becoming the Lighted Way. This is the Way which links us to Infinity. This Way is actually an energy signature. Once one is tuned into it, it is unmistakable. The old sayings of "Seek and you will find.", and "Knock and it will be opened up to you." stripped of their mystic clouds are quite literally, that is, scientifically, true.

"Know the Truth and the Truth shall make you free." John 8: 32
