Urusvati knows the power of equilibrium. In earlier times some people called equilibrium the Middle Path, Golden Path, Scale of Wisdom, Great Rhythm, Supermundane Breath. But ignorant people believed that equilibrium is nothing but indifference....The concept of equilibrium is equally misunderstood. But it is precisely now that the world needs the Scale of Wisdom....One can look into the depths of one's heart only when there is true equilibrium, which is not the same as calmness. Equilibrium bestows insight, and requires the intensification of all one's energies. Thus, let us not forget equilibrium as a true bridge to the Supermundane World. The Thinker advised, "Weave the wings of equilibrium, then you will not fall into an abyss". Supermundane IV, 820

Remembering Earth

As, anyone can plainly see, an apparently unending diversity of form is an inherent aspect of the physically registrable universe. For those who have liberated themselves from the fixation of a one dimensional Cosmos, this diversity, which extends from the quarks (which apparently never exist alone) to galaxies, continues infinitely through a multidimensional Cosmos. In an Infinite multidimensional Cosmos, why would one not expect infinite diversity?

This clearly evident fact of form diversity is not, or should not be a problem for us on planet Earth. It should be and, for eons, for the poets, musicians, artists and true Scientists, it has been a source of beauty, wonder, and joy. However, also easily seen is the fact that our Planet does have a simple but huge problem.

The innate, essential integrity of the planet has been under a kind of attack for thousands of years. This "attack" is the direct effect of the inability and, in many cases, the manipulated direct refusal, of humans to see and/or understand the Reality of the multidimensional Cosmos within which planet Earth, and every form on or in it, lives, moves and has its Being. These individuals are either ignorant of or consciously refuse to work with the driving Principles of Cosmos: Unanimity, the embodiment of the energy of Cooperation; Essential Divinity, all forms are Divine aspects of one energy we call Life; Good Will, the energy which drives all of the forms of the diversity of Cosmos into the beautiful creation of a harmonious cooperating and self sustaining whole.

The knowledge and understanding of these basic Cosmic Principles happens to be the source of the second sentence of The Constitution which, by the way, was written by humans who did understand. "We hold these Truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness." These are also the Principles that allowed us, in a hundred or so years, to cooperatively create the United States of America, a rather amazing

accomplishment when you compare it to Europe/Asia and think about it.

However, as we can plainly see, humanity is habituated to old illusions and very accomplished at complicating things. From the beginning, and in direct opposition to these Cosmic Principles, these various groups of relatively ignorant or unconscious humans have been manipulated into working vigorously at dismembering the basic fabric of Evolution. The unconscious awareness or ignorance of these groups has led to the manifestation of vast social, economic, religious, "governmental", and "scientific" systems that divide and separate human beings from one another, from our mutual daily planetary life, and humanity as a whole from all other aspects of the planet. Such systems generate huge delays and blockages to the natural unfoldment of the Plan.

Thus the attack on the planet.

Humanity is habituated to old illusions and very accomplished at complicating things.

Acting through their illusionary vision of reality, humanity's fanatic division and dismembering of things has caused the loss of the ability to see, comprehend, or understand the Unanimity of the Whole in the blizzard of parts. And, an illusionary vision or conception or a "belief" of separation has become the accepted reality. This condition also has led to a fixation of human vision on the dense physical plane resulting in the loss of the reality of the multidimensional Cosmos.

In addition, with the loss of the sense of wholeness, we have lost the ability to cognize the cosmic energy of Cooperation. Like the cosmic energy of Love, Cooperation has been misunderstood, confused, and overlaid with misconceptions.

Cooperation is not the forced compliance with another's desire or stronger will. (You will cooperate with me on whatever, or I will do something heinous to you.) This is conformity. Conformity is antithetical to cooperation. Conformity leads to uniformity and the elimination of diversity. Cooperation leads to a manifestation of Principles in unending diversity of form.

Neither is cooperation the willing compliance with any actions that are counter to the Path of Evolution, or the Intentions of the Creator. For human beings, the "cooperating" with, or more accurately, the usually unconscious "going along with" either by desire or force with some self-centered and irrational scheme, such as ruling the world, or any kind of action that would lead to the harm of other people or nature's other lives, is a kind of conformity and not cooperation.

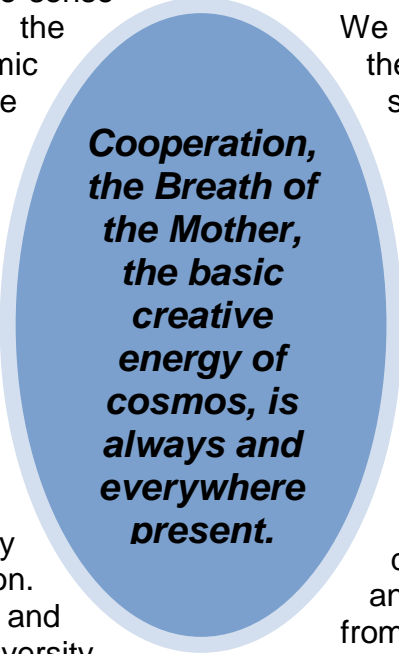

Cooperation, the Breath of the Mother, the basic creative energy of cosmos, is always and everywhere present. It is the energy that generates the coherence and integrity of the diversity of parts in Cosmos. Thus is generated the illusory reality of parts being separated from and therefore in conflict with one another rather than being involved in a cooperative manifestation of Cosmos. And thus we have the deplorable condition of the planet, a condition for which humanity, rather than the Intender or Creator, is responsible.

We could now create a vast list of the "parts" of this illusion that are seen as separate and at war with one another. However a couple of examples will suffice.

On the micro side we have illusory war over turf that goes on daily in the high meadows of Yosemite between the Lupine, the Baby Blue Eyes, Shooting Stars, Mariposa Lilies and a host of other inhabitants of the meadows.

Each of these examples of the diversity of what we call Flowers and animals have been separated from one another and are deemed to be competing with each other for life. All of Nature is seen through this lens. Rather than a cooperative dance of incomparable beauty, the eyes blinded by the illusion of dismemberment see competition for turf or nutrients and death.

The macro examples are easier to see. We have dismembered humanity in so many ways: woman from man, race from race, nation from nation. We have generated an entire separative and exclusionary human hierarchy of value based on wealth and power which is in constant competition with itself to either rise up by pulling down or maintaining ones position by subjugating those below with either force or regulational control.

This dismemberment which infects our entire way of life at every level and delays our Intended evolution at great cost in suffering and pain is our "simple, but huge problem".

The Problem is huge. The solution is simple! We must Remember the Earth.

The solution is, actually, rather simple. We just need to remember that which has been dismembered. Dismemberment creates an illusion of separation that does not exist.

We look out into the vast night sky and see millions of heavenly bodies. We see them as separated from each other and ourselves by vast reaches of what we call Space. We see our moon, 238,855 miles from us and assume that we are separated from it. Yet the moon is attached to the Earth with as much force as any one of us. It plays a tremendous part in our lives in just the superficial, dense physical relationship between it and us.

And then there is the Sun. Who is going to maintain that we are separated from the Sun in any way other than the 93,000,000 miles of space between us? These 93 million miles of space are totally full of the Sun's energy, which takes only eight minutes to get from there to here.

Just as we are related to the moon and Sun in so many, many ways we are related to each other. Because you are standing 3 feet from me does not mean that we are separated. We are connected by all kinds of energetic fields of varying frequencies. We say, "I feel you" even though we are not physically touching one another. The Ageless Wisdom has pointed out over and over, "Nearer is He than breathing, closer than hands and feet."

These are facts, of cosmic physics, not just nice things to say. Likewise, we are equally connected to all of the animals, plants and indeed minerals which make up this One Planet. We are getting close to the Significance of Brotherhood here.

Actually, it is inconceivable non-sense to have any such thing as a standalone independent "part". In order for there to be parts or things, there must be ever more inclusive wholes. Because one cannot, or does not register the presence of these other wholes with one's physical equipment, does not negate their existence. The heart knows and tells us of their presence constantly.

What's so hard to understand about that?

So, it is clear, to solve our problem we need to deconstruct the old stuff. The present, newer, systems for the most part came into being as efforts to "fix" the problems with the older systems, to try to make them function better. However the "fixes" dealt only with the effects of the old systems and never actually considered the cause of the old system's problems. Consequently the causes of the problems were/are migrated along with the new fixes. The fix would work for awhile, or not, but soon the original flaw of the illusion of separation in the vision would reassert itself and the system would fail again.

A brief example: At great cost, we ended the vicious laws of the old system that enabled one human being to own another human being as property, or slavery. But the causal generators of slavery, precisely—"the self or externally manipulated refusal of humans to see and understand the Self Evident Truths that Unanimity is a primary Principle of Cosmos, that all forms are essentially Divine manifestations of one energy we call Life, and that, through the Cosmic Principle of Good Will, all of the form diversity of Cosmos exists as a harmonious whole—remained in place. We now have more slavery than ever on the Plantation of the United States where the Owners, the very few super rich, and their legions of lackeys, live in luxury, while “wage slaves” till the fields and do the “jobs” that the Owners, or as they call themselves, “The Job Providers” have provided!

Well, Remembering is not so much an issue of putting stuff back together as it is a conscious realization and affirmation of the existing integrity of Cosmos. Separation is an illusion. It harbors every terror, and is the source of every pain of humanity.

And now, the role of the heart becomes evident. Only the heart can manifest equilibrium and register synthesis. Only the heart can experience the self evident Truths. Among the major dismemberments of ancient times was cutting the heart off from the mind and making intellect paramount in the construction of systems.

Without the Heart, we proceeded for eons: fixated on form, terrified of death, and literally blind to Reality. So, simply remembering or re-calling through the heart the anciently signified, but more and more now, scientifically demonstrable, facts of the infinite synthesis of Cosmos, of its obvious cooperative harmony and beauty, will release us from the prison of form identification and make available the enormous power of the heart’s wisdom. Becoming aware of the eternal Presence of Life, we will then be able to generate systems for living grounded in the Self Evident Truths.

This generation of systems initiated through the heart will result in the simultaneous deconstruction and reconstruction of the present effects of selfishness and ignorance. The New World even as I write is being manifested from the inside out, through cooperation with Cosmic Principles into the manifestation of sustainable forms of the evolving Plan of the Creator.

Humanity is, by the way, rediscovering how very much simpler it is to see the harmony and unity and beauty of Life than it is to make sense of the unconscious assumption that everything in existence is separated from and at war with every other thing. It is this energy, that the Avatar of Equilibrium brings to us and accounts for the creation of all poetry, music, art, beauty, love, joy. The Heart is the point of balance, the seat of equilibrium between Intention and Manifestation.
