A conscious consideration of the force of one's own radiations can produce considerable saturation. A spirit striving for conscious application of its radiations must intensify the manifested power of the heart, for this sunlike source can reveal all paths. Conscious affirmation of radiations is indeed applicable when all higher fiery energies of the heart are kindled. On the path to the Fiery World let us affirm a conscious attitude toward the radiations of the heart. Fiery World III, 392

July 16, through August 13, 2015

The rhythm of the highest energy is attained only through many years of labor, and cannot be achieved as a result of sudden illumination. One must begin with words, and later with wordless aspirations. Finally these flow together into a rhythm that resounds constantly in the heart, both when awake and when asleep. There is one basic quality that increases the vibration. Let us call this quality ecstatic Love, for in it are the highest devotion, inextinguishable trust, and untiring power. This step of ascent is a high one, but there is no ultimate stage in anything. Super Mundane 4 #722

Getting Un-Grounded!

Psychic energy is both Fire and Materia Matrix, and the Teaching of Agni Yoga is nothing other than an explanation of today's application of energy, the stream of which is approaching with Satya Yuga. This is not a new awakening of heretofore dormant possibility, but an enlightenment spread over time....The coming era can be understood properly or in a distorted way, but its approach is undeniable. One can destroy in an instant what took centuries to build, but such madness can only beget madness. And are they not mad who would try to live without a mind? What mind is not nurtured by psychic energy? Why search for the source in the darkness of unconsciousness, when one can easily ignite the inextinguishable spark within and approach the source in full consciousness? Agni Yoga, 416.

For at least the last few thousands of years, the majority of humanity has been walking around in a fog, an illusion of reality. We were, most of us still are, absolutely convinced that the dense physical plane was the only reality. Any suggestion, theory, conclusion regarding the nature of this or that had to be “empirically” proven to be acceptable as true or factual. Induction, or data processing, which is the intrinsic function of intelligence, was the standard “scientific” method. It was a self evident truth that only that which could be measured, weighed, seen, counted, was actually real.

Truth, if it existed would be found at the end of a chain of inductive reasoning, and would be demonstrably obvious through duplicated experimentation. Until that “never going to happen” event occurred, the answers to all of the BIG questions: Who are we? Where did we come from? Why are we here? What is life and death? were given either ridiculous pseudo scientific materialistic based answers, or considered to be beyond the ability of science to answer. And so, the Big questions, the questions that really matter were relegated to the arena of mystery.

Science, even materialistic science as we know it, was not present at that time. Even if it were, it would not have been understandable by those of us who were then crawling around on the Planet's crust. However, the Knowers, the Seers, the Scientists of the day, those few here and there who have always been with us and who understood the physics of a multidimensional Reality, who actually knew what was going on, using what tools they had at their disposal tried to communicate the nature of Reality to the vast, vast rest of us

Thus we have what we today call the Ageless Wisdom. The Canon of Ageless Wisdom is in fact, a scientific treatise on the multidimensional nature of the Cosmos in which planet Earth exists, and Humanity's role and relationship with that multidimensional Reality. This Canon mainly utilizes the only language available at the time to formulate the vast Truths of Cosmos, the language of metaphor and parable.

Since the Truth embodied by a metaphor is Light and formless, it is beyond the ability of the intellect to grasp. Thus, this effort of the Great Teachers, while it reached a few thousands here and there, mainly through theater, song, and story, was largely ineffective as regards the dispelling of the illusion of the Big Lie.

This was the case because at the same time another canon was being forged by those who were interested in maintaining the Big Lie. Those beings we now recognize as the Retrogressors. During this Dark Age of the relative mental infancy of humans and the lack of anything like science, the Retrogressors implanted and anchored the Lie, the Great Illusion, as a self evident fact into human consciousness.

They were quite effective. Probably the greatest evidence of their success was the planting of the fear of death in the human mental body based on the still almost universally accepted lie that human beings are their bodies, "All Men Are Mortal". The primary media that was used to foster and implement this operation was religion.

These dark forces being of no religious or even moral persuasion at all infiltrated and worked their ways "undercover" into the very hearts of the genuine religious movements initiated by Avatars and actual Teachers to instruct and aid Humanity. They used their positions and influence in these established religious movements to "cement space" with their Lie. They even started religious movements of their own establishing dark sects and "churches" all over the world.

Religious pronouncements, of course, require no "scientific" proof at all. They use and depend on belief and faith. Thus, answers to the Big Question questions were a dime a dozen.

They issued forth from legions of mouths in every known and several unknown languages. Some were profound and deeply significant, others were the darkest of non-sense and ignorance. All of these opinions claimed to be sourced by some mystical power to know Truth.

Each claimed to be the One Truth. Each depended for their reception on the concept of Believing, or having Faith. Some relied on love, on the power of the heart, on the spark of the Soul to feel and respond. Others, a veritable blizzard of others, relied on intellect and "logic". Many others, one might almost say most others, frequently employing intelligence and sophistry played to the power of emotion, and on the power of the Lie, fear and doubt.

The large majority of humanity during this period was polarized on the emotional plane. So, from a population which was terrified by the specter of death and a constant barrage of warnings and threats of some incredibly gruesome retribution for how awful one had behaved when he or she was alive, believing or having faith was not that hard to gin up. The endless eons of war and suffering indicate that the Big Lie of separation, war and death was clearly carrying the day.

Thus over the centuries BC and AD were the “veils”—literally, walls of astral images and mental thoughtforms—generated and placed between the evolving human mind and Truth. This was the Dark Age, the Kali Yuga, a period of 432,000 years. We have been floundering and floating around in this foggy sea of full blown lies, half truths, gross errors, and unanswerable questions for centuries.

Even so, in spite of all the efforts of the Dark Forces, Humanity did evolve. “From the beginning they struggled, and from the beginning we conquered.” The Call #231 Within that small statement lies the entire cannon of Path Walking. We never, never, give up. As it was indicated, “Blessed are the obstacles, by them we grow....so why should a happy man avoid difficulties? We must not forget that he who walks in harmony with evolution meets with many obstacles, but his attitude toward them is different. He does not fall into despair, but joyously overcomes the waves of chaos. Let us not think that the path of happiness is easy, it can be more difficult than a life of stagnation.” Supermundane IV #790

What’s the point? If the path is easy, we are probably not on it!

“True, in the consciousness of the self-crowned ignoramus the frigidity of the Stone Age still prevails.” Infinity 1 16 However, the sun is rising. We are unavoidably evolving into the Satya Yuga. On the way, we have lost many, many battles and have suffered untold agonies. Still, we returned from the dead again and again, and now we are on the verge of a final triumph. Yet, the battle is not over.

As the Planet moves into the New Age, there are a few more mountains to climb. Here are two of the most significant: One, an aspect of the Big Lie that we need to “get over!” is our unconscious identification with forms. And that one makes the next one, our identification with time, a peculiarly difficult problem. As long as we are identified with forms, we will be stuck, not only on the dense physical dimensions, but in time.

First, we need to consciously and deliberately begin to accept at least the possibility that we are actually not our dense physical bodies. The blockage, that we do not have “empirical” proof of this fact, needs to be removed from the prime consideration. It is a lower mind, intellectual, generated veil that blinds our inner vision, the vision of our heart,

This one factor, this notion of the need for material, empirical proof, fosters and empowers the identification of ourselves with our bodies, our possessions and the dense physical worlds. It keeps us locked into the one dimensional reality of the dense physical plane, blocking us from seeing the Reality of Life which invests all forms.

Time, another intellectual or brain thing, is absolutely necessary to navigate in the dense physical dimensions of Infinity, but it is a generator of confusion and blindness regarding the non-dense dimensions of infinity. If we would forget about time and think in terms of consciousness, the seemingly endless (just one day and night of Brahma is 8,640,000,000 years) evolutionary cycles will be seen as reasonable.

What we are is Consciousnesses. What lies before us is unfathomable. It is unfathomable because there is no top or bottom to infinity. Future is a place in consciousness, not in time.

Humans have been consciously aware of the multidimensional Cosmos for eons. They have been writing poetry, singing, making music, theater, art and even occasionally philosophy in an effort to communicate these facts to others. They have been ignored or opposed not only by a blizzard of denial from materialistic philosophers and what has passed for science, but all kinds of theological organs of information have been dispensing horrid distortions of such dimensions and threatening the lives of any scientist who would try to correct even some of the conclusions re the dense physical plane (Galileo comes to mind) for a very long time.

With the exception of the insanities like war, pestilence, famine which our identification with forms generates, those things which have endured on the dense physical plane and in human consciousnesses for an unknown number of eons are the commentaries regarding the nature of Reality which we call the Ageless Wisdom. These have been our true guides. We have noted the unending efforts of the Dark Side to obfuscate these road maps to sane living, and we have noted the enduring spirit of the human heart to persist.

Imagine, that is, create your future now. We are Consciousness. We do this naturally. It's how we roll.

That endurance has generated the step in evolution that is finally beginning to overwhelm the distortions of the Dark Ones. Individual Human beings in huge numbers are beginning to realize that what he or she is, is Consciousness. The fabled concept Soul, is becoming to be seen as an individual aware point of consciousness within an immediate field we recognize as the One Humanity but also within an infinite field of possibilities. This is the long sought for "freedom of the prisoners of the Planet".

Think, for energy follows thought, of a world in which the Principles of Cosmic Physics, freedom, harmony, beauty, love, are the engines that drive human effort, that design the systems of equilibrium for our interactions with each other and the planet. Dream of what the planet will be like when the eons of the 6th and 7th root race appear. Why not, it's fun!
