Destroyed As By Fire

When the blazing light of the Monad is focused directly upon the personality, via the antahkarana and not specifically through the soul, it produces a blazing fire which burns up all hindrances in a steady, sequential process. Wording it otherwise, when the will aspect streams from the Monad and focusses through the personal will (as the mind can grasp and realize it) it destroys as by fire all elements of self-will. The Rays and Initiation p. 30

Various ancient texts indicate that the Earth will be destroyed by fire. As far as I can tell, this is not something that might happen. It is a flat out promise. Presented as it usually was/is as an act of retribution by some very displeased and angry God Guy, (usually white, with a long beard) it does sound kind of scary.

The advent of atomic energy and the production of atomic bombs only made it scarier. At least once a week we had all of our school age children doing something called “duck and cover” which involved getting down on the floor under our desks and rolling ourselves into little balls. This was supposed to protect us from the blast more than prepare us for being cooked.

Fortunately, a measure of sanity prevailed and Humanity was able to avert the opportunity to have an atomic war. This situation however, looming like a specter of total destruction, is still pending. The Doomsday Clock, a metaphor of how close humanity is to destroying the planet, is set at three minutes to midnight. Nobody who knows anything about the “atomic option” is very upbeat about this, and the presence of an apparently insane guy in charge of things in North Korea is not very comforting either.

It is hard to really understand what the ancient texts were indicating by being destroyed by fire. For me, like all of the Ageless Wisdom texts, it is a metaphor about the processes of the evolution of a Planet, or for that matter of any form. There simply was not either the language or the mental development to do anything else.

This planet, according to the ancient texts has already passed through several exceedingly significant evolutionary developments. The apparently rapid destruction of massive life forms including, but not limited to the dinosaurs, is one, which as far as I can tell is not mentioned in the ancient texts. However, because of various archeological evidence, “semi” enlightened guesses about its occurrence have been offered. Another that we have only the ancient texts to inform us of is the advent of the coming of the Agnishvattas and the “implanting of the spark of mind” in certain of the animals who were considered possibly able to accept the “upgrade”. This action resulted in the appearance of “human consciousness” within the bodies of those animals who could handle the frequency of the upgrade. It also resulted in the destruction or elimination of many millions in which the upgrade was incompatible, so to speak.

In addition, we also have the Noah and the Atlantis legends. So, given the time spans about which we are talking, being “destroyed” is not that unusual. However, being destroyed by fire doesn’t sound that great.

From the beginning, Humanity has always had a very close relationship with fire. As a collective, our experience with fire was/is that it gives light and warmth. It is comforting and assuring in the darkness of the night.

But it also burns stuff up. I was always sort of drawn to fire. As a child I liked to watch the fire in the fire place and to light matches. I was famous in our family for setting the kitchen trash on fire.

When we think about it, the vast amount of our experience with fire has been connected in one way or another with the physical dense plane. Everyone who has been burned by fire, or boiling water, or a hot stove remembers the pain and the blisters. Some of us have actually witnessed fires of great destruction such as forest and brush fires which rage through parts of California from time to time consuming everything in their paths. Probably all of us have read about or seen movies of epic fires such as the Great Chicago fire of 1871. And then there are unforgettable images such as the young Vietnamese girl who was running covered with flaming napalm, and the images from the atom bombs dropped on Nagasaki and Hiroshima. It is no wonder that we associate fire with pain and suffering, and that we have a deep seated fear of fire.

However, this view, which we have thanks to our identification with, and experience in, the physical dense planes, gives us a very skewed and superficial understanding of the metaphor, “The world will be destroyed by fire.”

So, let’s look at what it means for the world to be destroyed by fire from a multidimensional, inclusive point of view. The first thing we need to consider is FIRE. On the dense physical plane, we can see and feel fire. We can even hear it. It looks like flames and coals and such. What we see, feel, hear and call fire on the dense physical is a dense physical manifestation of ENERGY. We call this energy fire.

There are those among us who have experience on dimensions much subtler than the dense physical. True, these dimensions have as yet to be recognized as real by most of humanity including the scientific communities. But, those of us who have the experience know beyond any doubt that these higher or subtler dimensions are in fact as real or even more real than the dense physical. And as each day passes, recognizing their existence and reality are becoming more and more unavoidable to the thinking members of the human family and to the scientific community in general.

On these subtle dimensions, Energy = Fire. And, as we have learned through much experience, one of the most profound statements in all of the Teachings is that “Energy follows thought.” This is a profound and very simple statement of a Cosmic Principle. It is literally True. The activity in which we engage on the mental plane moves energy or fire. The energy impacts and causes an effect first in emotional matter. It is then driven through the emotional plane causing an effect in the matter of the dense physical plane. It is that simple.

Depending on the motive that generates the initiating thought, the emotional and dense physical effects will serve either the Common Good or the desires of the separated self. The knowledge of the techniques and skills needed to do this, so called magic, are the substance of the teachings of the Ageless Wisdom, and the fact that this knowledge in the hands of selfish or ignorant individuals is not that helpful for evolution is one of the reasons it is "esoteric" or has been made rather difficult to access. In A Treatise On White Magic P. 278,9. Master D. K. gives a list of the laws/steps that must be taken to produce and manifest a thoughtform.

If seen from a conscious, scientific energy manipulation point of view in accordance with an intended rational plan for the evolution of the planet, the previous "destructions" we have passed through on Planet Earth are not so weird and frightening. Take the event that caused the demise of the dinosaurs for instance. A very large asteroid apparently slammed into a huge body of water and generated climate change that, in an exceedingly short time frame, wiped out not only the dinosaurs, but vast numbers of other animal forms that were then inhabiting Earth. From the narrow view of present day science, this event is seen as a random, kind of chance thing. Old Earth was just at the wrong place at the wrong time.

Suppose according to a rational evolutionary Plan the further development of the animal body was not possible in the forms like dinosaurs. The dinosaur form had reached a point of perfection in doing what they were designed to do. And, as the Ageless Wisdom indicates, "A form perfected outwears its usefulness."

The Plan required an "upgrade" of the form to proceed. The dinosaur vehicles could not accommodate the kinds of energy change required to create forms that could... let's just say become self-conscious. So to evolve according to the Intention of the Plan we needed to get rid of those forms that were no longer useful, and in fact inhibiting the unfolding of the Plan. A virus might have been useful, but viruses tend to multiply and to leave some rather toxic residues. The super weather manipulation option would be a whole lot cleaner and faster and would not infect the planet with some weird virus that would later have to be gotten rid of.

The impact of the asteroid, if that is really what it was, was not an accidental occurrence. It was the Intended result of energy or Fire following thought. I know it takes some big thinking to get this, but it's time for us to get over the blockages that our identification with the dense physical manifestation of this very small planet places on our imaginations and consequently on our ability to embrace the limitless expanse of infinity. Remember, this planet is the thoughtform of a Thinker.

"The coals of conflagration are rushing along, and the old world is summoning all its strength.... In legends giants crossed the seas, breaking off monolithic rocks. Let us resemble the giants and our thoughts the monoliths. Let us dispel any timid halfway-ness, as otherwise it will take possession of us and deliver us to a shameful execution by beating with accounting books. We know monolithic thinking. When conflagrations are strong, think monolithically.” Community 238.

One other ancient example we have of the planet being “destroyed” is the non-documented by present material science advent of the visit to Earth of the Agnishvattas, “the ‘Flames,’ those who possessed the living spiritual fire, but not the lower creative fire.” Theoopedia This thought driven event occurred some millions of years after the animal upgrade program had gone about as far as it could go in terms of meeting the evolutionary requirements of the Plan. The visit of the Flames involved, as mentioned above, an energy upgrade, the downloading of “the living spiritual fire” into the then “animal men”. This upgrade also caused huge destruction of forms that were not able to accommodate the new level of fire.

What is apparent in these events is that they were caused by Energy or Fire that was consciously driven by thought. As regards the world being destroyed by fire, I see no reason to think that that event will not occur. However, the word “destroyed” needs to be understood within the rational framework of which Cosmic Creation occurs.

Energy cannot be destroyed. Even the very limited present day material science agrees with that. What can be “destroyed” or to use a much more coherent term “deconstructed” are forms.

We have a big problem here because of our still very strong and lingering identification with the transient world of form. We still find it difficult to understand/accept that the true being, the Soul, the living Fire within the form is indestructible, and to see the death of an outworn form as a part of evolution.

And there is, of course, the appalling insanity of war and random killing. This kind of destruction is a direct result, not of thoughtforms generated by the Intender, but of thoughtforms generated by the Retrogressive forces. Such thoughtforms are very powerful and still hold vast numbers of our brothers and sisters in thrall.

These thoughtforms of evil intention are used and empowered by those who are susceptible to them. The facts are that not many currently wired humans can actually create a new thoughtform. Most of what passes for thinking among us is really an activity of the lower mental frequencies which process data. That is, we count, measure, divide, sort, compare, quantify, categorize and draw inferences to solve problems from what we see.

We generate new events from old events many of which are based on a series of original thoughtforms which were generated by the Forces of Retrogression. For example, our entire economic system is based on a thoughtform that says the private ownership of property is a Law. This thoughtform is not based on any cosmic Principle at all. It is based on the illusion of Separation. (In spite of the implanted clauses that allowed slavery, The Constitution of the United States of America was primarily based on the Principles of Cosmic Physics.)

We are appalled and we sorrow greatly by the senseless kind of form destruction not just of our fellow humans but of the needless and cruel killing of animals, and the terrible destruction and pollution we are senselessly wreaking on the Planet in general. This destruction of forms was and is being primarily driven by the actions of ignorant humans who are still being captivated by these ancient evil thoughtforms.

It is obvious to those who do think that the planet has arrived at a juncture in our evolution that is very similar to the junctures that precipitated the destruction of the dinosaurs and the upgrade of the “living spiritual fire” for animal man. In order for the planet to evolve, there needs to be a period of reconstruction, a term that I think is more useful and accurate than destruction. For those who are conscious of the Reality of our multidimensional Cosmos and such things as energy following thought, this adjustment in the Unfolding Plan is well underway. It is and will continue to destroy the world, as it was, by FIRE.

Humanity has developed far enough so that there are a sufficient number of heart-minds in incarnation so that the reconstruction of the world can proceed from the inner dimension to the outer in a much gentler way than having an asteroid or atom bomb hit the ground somewhere. The outworn form of the world that was is being destroyed by eliminating the thoughtforms of evil intention from the mental and emotional planes by the infusion of FIRE.

The outworn form of the world that was is being destroyed by eliminating the thoughtforms of evil intention from the mental and emotional planes by the infusion of FIRE

When the thoughtforms that underlie and drive the insanity which has generated the enormous imbalances in the planetary life are eliminated, the forms that they supported including the present forms that house the Retrogressive Forces such as the giant “to big to fail”, Corporasaur, fascist and oligarchic governments, will wither away, some very rapidly others more slowly, and hopefully with much less destruction of dense physical forms.

For humanity as a WHOLE, we are talking about a Transfiguration, about the destruction of the Great Illusion of the separative self, the imprisoning notion that we are our forms, the terrifying notion that death is the end, all of the notions that our purpose for being involves the accumulation of worldly goods and power.

In a word, the world that is being destroyed by fire, is the prison in which humanity has been trapped for untold eons.

These are a few of the FIRES that are destroying the old world of illusion.

- The Fire of Beauty
- The Fire of Love
- The Fire of Joy
- The Fire of Courage

The Fire of Compassion
The Fire of Kindness
The Fire of Solitude
The Fire of Brotherhood

And, of course, the Fire of Revelation, leading to the universal realization of the spiritual reality of the One Humanity, and our true role on this planet.

All of these FIRES are frequencies of the One Fire of Cosmic Truth. Through a Heart focus, each one can be invoked, downloaded and embodied in actions that will serve the Plan for the evolution of Humanity and the Planet to take its predestined place as a Sacred Planet in this Solar System!

Friends, this is not some fantasy. The Poets, the carriers of the Wisdom have been singing to us about this for centuries.

Join the Party, it's been a long time getting here!

The Windhover

*I CAUGHT this morning morning's minion, kingdom of daylight's dauphin, dapple-dawn-drawn Falcon, in his riding
Of the rolling level underneath him steady air, and striding
High there, how he rung upon the rein of a wimpling wing
In his ecstasy! then off, off forth on swing,
As a skate's heel sweeps smooth on a bow-bend: the hurl and gliding Rebuffed the big wind. My heart in hiding Stirred for a bird, —the achieve of; the mastery of the thing!*

*Brute beauty and valor and act, oh, air, pride, plume, here
Buckle! AND the fire that breaks from thee then, a billion Times told lovelier, more dangerous, O my chevalier!*

*No wonder of it: sheer plod makes plough down sillion
Shine, and blue-bleak embers, ah my dear,
Fall, gall themselves, and gash gold-vermillion.*
